Voters confront school millage

Romulus voters will again face two millage proposals on the upcoming August 2 ballot designed to prevent cuts in the Romulus Public Schools.

Proposals A and B, which will not increase taxes, will transfer mills from the debt fund to the general fund. The debt fund has been "overlevied" for 10 years and created a $1,530,000 surplus. Debt payments for the district are falling in addition, according to school officials. Therefore they feel the district's financial problem could be solved by the transfer.

The positive aspects, besides the millages just being a transfer and not raising taxes, are that residents will "get to maintain a very good program that is taking hold," and would keep school employees "not widely happy but reasonably happy" and avoid labor problems for a while, said Dr. William Bedell, superintendent of schools.

Proposal A would therefore "underlevy" the debt fund since there is a surplus, and "overlevy" the operating millage by the same 4.5 mills for the 1988-89 school year.

This is just a transfer of millage from one fund to another and would not raise taxes while still providing a one time "windfall" to the general fund of approximately $1,530,000, according to school officials.

Proposal B is a more long-term solution. It calls for a permanent increase in the general fund of 2 mills, transferred from the debt fund millage. Because the tax base will continue to grow, the school district officials only need to restore 2.5 mills to the debt fund in 1989-90, school officials said.

Without the millage transfer, the district will have to make cuts in services and curriculum in January since the state will require the district to balance its budget. The deficit is now $1.1 million, Bedell said.

By second semester students will be on reduced days and other substantial cuts will have to be made, Bedell said.

If the proposals do not pass they may again be placed on the ballot in November, he said.

The millages have already been defeated twice this year, but in the June school board elections only by approximately 200 votes each.

Proposal A was defeated 768 to 583, and Proposal B was defeated 709 to 604.

"Generally speaking, more people vote" in the primary than the school elections, and even more vote in the November election, Bedell said, so he hopes that "over three thousand" will come to the polls and pass the millage. People against the millage will often come out, but it often takes another issue to bring people to the polls.

Bedell hopes 1500 to 2000 people will vote yes on the millage, he said.

Primary focuses on county posts

In addition to the Romulus Public Schools millage proposals, Romulus voters will be voting on various Wayne County positions in the Aug. 2 primary election.

Before the voters in Romulus precinct one will be U.S. senator, with a choice between Donald W. Riegle, Jr. on the Democratic side and Jim Dunn and Robert J. Huber on the Republican side.

For representative in Congress in the 15th District, William D. Ford, Democrat, is opposing Burl C. Adkins, Peter Bundarin, Robert Fodor, and Glen Kassel on the Republican side.

In the 37th District, the representative in the state legislature choice is between James A. Kosteva on the Democratic ticket and David Dossette on the Republican.

The rest of the offices are for Wayne County. For sheriff, the choice is between incumbent Robert A. Ficano, Bruce D. Kennedy and Richard M. Novak on the Democratic side. No Republicans are running.

For clerk, James R. Killeen, Ed Wilson, and Robert A. Zwolak are on the Democratic ticket and Lawrence G. Schweiger is on the Republican ticket.

Democrat Raymond J. Wojtowicz is the only candidate for treasurer, and Democrat Forest E. Youngblood the only candidate for register of deeds.

For county commissioner in the 11th District only Democrat Milton Mack has filed.

On the non-partisan ballot for judges of the Court of Appeals,

Y. Gladys Barsamian, Thomas J. Brennan, Patrick J. Conlin, Gary Edward Gardner, Richard P. Hathaway, John R. Kirwan, Martin Thomas Maher, Maureen P. Reilly, and M. John Shamo are running.

For the non-partisan post of trustee for Wayne County Community College Alvin Coleman, Vincent J. Pettipren, and Ted Scott are on the ballot.

Also on the ballot are millage proposals for the Wayne County jails and for special education for the Wayne County Intermediate School District.

Sentencing program looks for home

By KIM KOESTER
ANP Special Writer

An alternate sentencing program, first slated to be conducted in Romulus, may be housed at the Western Campus of Wayne County Community College, according to Dr. William Bedell, Romulus superintendent of schools.

"They (the school board) told me I can't put it in a school building," said Bedell.

Bedell said he was disappointed for awhile, but then saw an advantage to housing the program at WCCC, because the people in the program may also enroll at the college.

William Murphy, director of Adult and Community Education, stressed that "nothing is finalized," and they are "still searching" and looking at other locations for the program.

Under the proposal, the Romulus Adult and Community Education program would contract with the county executive's office to operate an educational program for non-violent misdemeanor sentenced people.

Murphy said he understands that "some of the population has apprehensions," and they are "in the process of searching for a spot" that is "compatible to the population."

"I think we have to have that," he said.

If they would have listened to me, Bedell said, the public would have known there is "no reason" not to hold the program at one of the area schools. Bedell said "there was just no arguing," and people would not hear of it, and there was "absolutely no way to fight the hysteria." Bedell stressed that he is not trying to bring violent criminals into the community as some seem to think.

Also, he said, some of the staff at one site encouraged the public's concern about bringing the program into the community out of self interest because they did not want to lose the space necessary to house the program.

He is shooting for September with the program, Bedell said, because the school attorney is drawing up the proposal to rent space at the college. After it is presented to them the college will return to the school district with specifics on what it can provide and the costs involved.

Murphy said he believes the program is the first in the country, that "no other community" has a work-education combined program - only work programs exist.

School officials will be able to drop anyone from the program "deemed detrimental," and Murphy stressed that he has "every safeguard" in the contract. There will be a ratio of 10-1 between students and supervisors, and the supervisors will come with the students in the van and stay with them during classes, he said. There will be "more than adequate supervision," Murphy said.

Besides earning a possible $200,000 for the district, Bedell also stressed the humanitarian aspect of the program, saying it is "really a win-win situation if we can get a deal going."

Bedell said he had figures quoted to him that in Wayne County, 80 percent of misdemeanants have no high school diploma.

One part of the program will

'Their spirit lives on'

Victims of Flight 255 remembered with memorial

By KIM KOESTER
ANP Special Writer

"Flight 255/Their Spirit Lives On," a group for the families of the victims of the Flight 255 tragedy will hold a memorial August 2nd and a vigil at the crash site on Tuesday, August 16th.

The memorial, to be held at Ford Auditorium in Detroit by invitation only, the group "decided to do in memory of our loved ones," said Pat Dresch, a member of the group.

Lasting about an hour, it will involve music, clergy who were at the crash site, poem readings, a choir, harpist, string quartet plus someone else who was at the crash site will speak, and a slide presentation of the victims, she said.

The Romulus police department is working with the group, she said, and will close off part of Merriman road for the evening vigil on the hill at the crash site.

Clergy will speak at 8:30, Dresch said, and at 8:46, the time the crash occurred, the names of the victims will be read off.

As the names are read, she said, family members will light hearts on the hillside with penlights. The hearts will be white, she said, made by a florist with red flowers and two ribbons bearing the first and last names.

The hearts will be laid in the shape of Flight 255, and there will be different hearts for the survivors.

The group started with "different people meeting each other at the hearings," Dresch said, and as they talked at the Ramada Inn they talked and decided to form "a group to help each other."

The group has tried to contact all the families involved, she said, whether spouses, parents, etc. - the "next of kin," and keep in contact through their mailings, minutes of their meetings and newsletter.

Also, since many of the victims came from Phoenix, Arizona, the families have just started a sister group there.

The Detroit-area group has monthly meetings, usually on Saturday, at Bethany Lutheran Church in Detroit. Meetings were held, at first, in members homes while they looked for a meeting place, Dresch said, and the Reverend Ron Lund of Bethany was at the crash and very helpful.

The group is also thinking of creating a living memorial, Dresch said, once one is found they can all agree on. In May they held a golf outing for fund-raising, she said, and plan to do more fund-raising in the fall for the living memorial.

Another activity was a group search for "personal belongings in the crash area," she said.

The group also "tries to get to the truth of things," she said, because there are "lots of unanswered questions."

Because of the common tragedy, she said, the group members understand each other and can talk to each other, either at group meetings or calling one another, where many others might not.

Also, in May a counselor came in to speak at the group meeting, and more grief counselors will be coming in to talk, she said.

The group's logo is peace dove with an olive branch and a red heart with crack in the center, along with a banner that says "Their Spirit Lives On," and is "really pretty," she said.

The group is currently organizing formally with by-laws and will elect officers, she said.

STATE NEWS DIGEST

Perch limits established

A bill presented to the governor will establish a 50-a-day perch limit in most Michigan waters in order to prevent depletion of the species. Such a depletion would threaten the state game fishery industry.

Exceptions to the new limit include portions of Lake Huron, the Detroit and St. Clair rivers, Lake St. Clair and Lake Erie. In this spots the limit will be set at 100 perch per day.

Prior to this measure, there was no daily limit on the number of perch that could be taken in Michigan waters except in the Upper Peninsula.

Tuition payments may be tax-exempt

A bill in the state House Committee on Taxation would allow tuition payments from the Michigan Education Trust to be deducted on the recipients' Michigan income tax returns.

MET will pool investments made by parents or other investors on behalf of an individual child. The state-managed fund will guarantee tuition expenses at Michigan colleges and universities.

Lottery inheritance is to be clarified

A bill in the tax committee of the Michigan House of Representatives will specify inheritance rules applying to monies won from the state lottery.

The new bill states that if a state lottery winner dies before collecting the full amount of the prize, the remaining money will be paid directly to the surviving spouse and children, unless the prize winner specified otherwise.

Prior to this, lottery winnings had to be paid to a deceased winner's estate, which had to go through probate court proceedings before survivors could receive the prize money.

Probate sites to be extended

A bill in the state House Judiciary Committee would allow probate court judges to stage sessions in communities other than the county seat, which is currently the only approved location for probate proceedings.

Proponents of the measure say it will allow the court to better serve county residents who find it difficult to travel to the county seat.

Early prison release banned

A new state law will prevent early releases of prisoners solely to alleviate prison overcrowding.

Under the law, state prisoners will only be allowed a supervised furlough to visit a critically ill relative or attend a relative's funeral, to work or receive training, or for specialized medical treatment.

Control tightened on tobacco sales

A state statute which prohibits minors from buying or using cigarettes will be expanded to include all tobacco products including cigars, snuff and chewing tobacco.

Under the proposed law, sale and consumption of tobacco by minors would be a misdemeanor, and the courts could order a young person found guilty of breaking this law to perform community service in a hospice or other long-term care nursing facility.

Bus seat belts debated in Senate

A bill requiring installation and use of seat belts on school buses has passed the state House of Representatives and is currently in the state Senate Committee on Education and Mental Health.

ROMULUS DIGEST

More senior activities coming

The Romulus Senior Center has several activities planned in the coming weeks for area residents. Sign-up sheets are posted at the center for day trips. Seniors are accepted for these trips on a first-come, first-serve basis.

Two day-trips coming up this month are the Monroe Fair on Tuesday, Aug. 3, and Southland Shopping Center on Friday, Aug. 5. The trip will cost seniors $1.50 for van fare and any extra money for refreshments.

Nurses from Annapolis Hospital will be at the center on the first Monday of the month to give free blood pressure readings to the seniors.

Hot lunches will continue throughout the summer. Meals are served at 11:30 a.m. Monday through Friday. Please call Pat at 942-6852 for more information.

Learning lab gets new gear

The purchase of learning lab equipment for the Romulus Adult Education Program was approved Monday night by school board members.

The supplies, at a cost of $11,298.05, will be paid for from the adult education budget. The lab equipment consists mostly of books and cassettes for the students.

The laboratory is located at the Adult Education Center on Olive Street.

Typewriters bought for high school

Romulus School Board members approved the purchase of 32 typewriters for the high school.

The typewriters will cost the district $10,248, or $306 each.

The new Swintec machines will replace 14-year-old IBM machines currently in use.

The machines will be supplied by A & D Machines, Inc. of Ann Arbor.

Athletic director appointed

Fred Coleman, formerly the athletic coordinator, was appointed athletic director by Romulus school board members Monday night.

Coleman will be performing the same tasks as athletic director, but the post is classified as administrative.

Teletech Inc. rezoning denied

An application by Teletech, Inc. to rezone a site on the west-side of Middlebelt Road, south of Eureka, from single family residential to light industrial was denied by Romulus city council members.

The planning commission recommended that the petition be denied.

The request was considered by the planning commission to be "not consistent with established development patterns that characterize the area."

Also, the commission members believe there is adequate acreage zoned for industrial purposes in Romulus.

Teletech, Inc. did not own the land, but held an option on purchasing it if the rezoning had been approved.

Tiger tickets are available

The Romulus Recreation Department has a limited number of upper reserved bargain day tickets available for the Aug. 6 Detroit Tigers baseball game against the Red Sox.

The tickets, originally $8, are only $4.50, and can be purchased from the recreation department. Call 942-6852 for further details.

Millage

School officials would also like to put a bond before the voters in November to be used to improve the schools, but may not if faced with putting the millage before the voters a fourth time.

"It would be nice to spend some time on the bonds," he said.

Airport recovers following weekend power outage

By KIM KOESTER
ANP Special Writer

Though airport officials are still not sure what caused the outage, Detroit Metropolitan Airport regained power after being plunged into darkness Saturday evening.

Power was restored at the North Terminal and Concourses E and F Monday between 2:30 and 3 p.m., according to Michael Conway, community relations representative at the airport.

Both main power cables to the area failed, Conway said, and airport technicians thought it very "unusual" that not only the main cable but the backup cable failed.

The cables run from the power house on one side of the parking garage under the garage to the terminals, Conway said.

Workers were immediately called in when the problem occurred and eventually spliced the four- to five-inch cable to bypass the power interruption, Conway said.

Technicians reported it takes six to eight hours to splice one end of the cable. Experts were called in to handle the job, Conway said.

Power was restored in phases to prevent an overload, Conway said. Lights came on first, then computers, and finally air conditioning was restored.

Tuesday some of the electronic walkways and escalators were still out of order, Conway said. Airport officials, Conway said, feared the system might overload again if too many "extras" were brought on line.

The baggage belts were working despite officials' concerns.

The next step for airport officials is to establish another back-up power source, Conway said.

The cause of the outage has not been determined.

A portable generator was brought to provide lights in the baggage claim area.

Monday morning Northwest Airlines, the only airline effected by the outage, brought in generators to run the security screening area. During the outage, passengers had to go to screening areas in other parts of the airport near the hotel.

Conway stressed that other airlines, terminals, the control tower and field lights were not affected by the power outage

Postal workers reassigned

By KIM KOESTER
ANP Special Writer

Thirty-eight postal workers at the airmail facility at Metropolitan Airport may be transferred to the General Mail Facility in downtown Detroit, said Delene Reid, president of the local postal workers' union.

The former part-time workers have to be reassigned, she said. More than 40 positions were posted at the airmail extension - it is a preferred site - and jobs are not being lost there, she said. These positions have been bid for, so workers with seniority can choose positions. Many of the workers who will be transferred have low seniority.

There had been a delay in assigning the workers to specific jobs while they were waiting for positions to become available.

Bidding on those positions closed July 16, she said.

Some of the workers are upset over the transfer, and Reid said she could understand that because they were used to being there, but if there was something wrong she would be the first one to go to their defense.

The postal employees have been working on priority mail, airmail, Canadian and overseas mail at the facility, but that work can now be done at the general mail facility downtown.

The mail had been stockpiled at that facility until a load was ready, and then the workers had to work overtime at the airport to process the mail. Now that work can be done downtown with the experienced workers there, the overtime should stop, she said. Since the workers had to wait for a three-fourths full truck of mail, they had "worked sporadically."

Also, the machinery for sorting the mail is downtown, she said.

The Canadian mail should also be transferred there July 30, Reid said.

"No one is losing his job, no one is being laid-off," she said, but the transfer is necessary under the seniority required under the contract.

Write-in candidate is primary underdog

By JOAN MARY DYER
Belleville City Editor

A Republican's bid to face Wayne County Commissioner Milton Mack (D-11) in November could be viewed as a match between David and Goliath.

Michael Long, recreation director for Van Buren Township, made a decision to enter the primary race too late to place his name on the ballot. Consequently, he is waging an uphill battle to gain votes through a write-in campaign.

Mack, who is unchallenged on the ballot, has served as county commissioner since 1982. Long is a first-time office-seeker.

To earn a place on the November ballot, Long must receive 5 percent of the number of votes of the top vote-getter in the district, or a total of about 1,100 votes from Van Buren

Township, Belleville, Sumpter Township, Canton Township, Romulus, Wayne, Huron Township, Flat Rock and Rockwood.

Due to the short time remaining before the primary, Long is sending direct mailing plus making door-to-door visits.

"I decided to run after the last meeting of the county Solid Waste Committee that I attended," Long said. "I felt the tone of the meeting had changed - it seemed the plans were being speeded up and there was a more definite air to the plans."

Long believes the major issue facing the county commissioner is the solid waste disposal problem, particularly the landfill issue. Long questioned whether the new five-year plan can be implemented with any more success than the previous five-year plan.

'Safe cars' save money

More Michigan insurance companies are giving drivers who use safety restraints a break on their insurance premiums. The National Highway Traffic Safety Administration released information last week stating that more insurance companies are giving drivers of cars with safety restraints discounts on personal injury and medical payment coverage. According to highway safety administration Director Diane K. Steed, air bags can reduce the chance of fatality in crashes by 20 to 40 percent. Combined with a lap belt, the chance of fatality is reduced 40 to 50 percent. Steed said air bags combined with lap and shoulder belts can reduce the chance of fatality by 45 to 55 percent. The discounts are applied to cars equipped with factory-installed automatic crash protection. The discounts apply to premiums for medical and personal injury coverage.

PUBLIC NOTICE
NOTICE OF RECEIPT OF A CLOSURE PLAN FOR
HAZARDOUS WASTE FACILITY

The Michigan Department of Natural Resources (MDNR) and the United States Environmental Protection Agency (U.S. EPA) Region V, hereby give notice that General Motors Corporation C-P-C Group has submitted a closure plan for the hazardous waste container storage unit at its facility located at 36880 Ecorse Road in Romulus, Michigan. The company manufactures, assembles and tests diesel engines. Hazardous volatile solvents accumulate from these facility operations. The company's closure plan details closure and decontamination methods and procedures. The plan also describes the sampling and analysis procedures that will be used to determine the presence and extent of any contamination. All contaminated soils and materials identified at the site will be decontaminated or removed and disposed in accordance with state and federal regulations.

In order for the MDNR to fulfill its obligation under 1979 P.A. 64, as amended, the Hazardous Waste Management Act, it must ensure that closure of currently regulated hazardous waste management units is performed in a manner that protects public health and the environment. The U.S. EPA, pursuant to the federal Hazardous and Solid Waste Amendments of 1984, must ensure that any releases of hazardous waste or hazardous waste constituents from current or past solid waste management units are also corrected (cleaned up) to the extent necessary to protect public health and the environment. Solid waste management units may include landfills, surface impoundments (agoons, ponds, pits), land farms, waste/piles, tanks, container storage areas, disposal wells, wastewater treatment units, waste transfer stations, waste recycling operations, and any other activity that is, or was ever, used to management solid waste (including liquid or contained gaseous waste).

The public is hereby encouraged to provide factual information concerning any known releases (date, type) of hazardous waste or hazardous waste constituents from this facility to the air, surface water, groundwater, or soils.

The company's closure plan may be reviewed at the Department of Natural Resources, Waste Management Division Office located on the First Floor, South Ottawa Building in Lansing, Michigan, at the Waste Management Division District Office located at 505 W. Main Street in Northville, Michigan, and at the Romulus Public Library located at 11121 Wayne Road in Romulus, Michigan.

The MDNR and the U.S. EPA must determine whether or not to approve the closure plan by September 26, 1988. Therefore, comments concerning the plan or prior or continuing releases must be received by the MDNR no later than August 26, 1988 to receive consideration.

Ballot box: Voters to decide fate of education millage

By JIM RINK
ANP Staff Writer

Wayne County residents will be asked to support a one-mill increase on the Aug. 2 ballot to help the 6,000 special education students in the county with severe physical or mental handicaps.

Of the 35,000 students in Wayne County who utilize special education programs, 6,000 "low incidence" students with severe disabilities attend 36 center program operated by 14 local school districts and the intermediate school districts. These programs serve all 34 school districts in Wayne County.

The problem, said Cathy Mathey, special education consultant for Wayne County Intermediate School District, is that these centers have been living off the revenue established by a one-mill levy authorized in August 1974, and recent center shortfalls must now be charged back to the host districts which operate each center.

"Each district does not have enough money for its own center," said Mathey. "During the last several years, there has not been enough money to pay for those costs in those centers. The district is charged back the difference."

According to Mathey, in 1982-83, local charge backs to the districts amounted to a total of $579,920. In 1985-86, the amount was $4.3 million and the projected amount for 1987-88 is $9 million.

"Approximately 6,000 severely handicapped kids in Wayne County are educated in our regional centers," said Mathey. "The districts don't have enough money to run their own programs, so these 14 districts serve as host districts for these specialized centers."

In the Garden City school district, there is a special center for autistic children. It operates the only autistic program in the county for a total of approximately 250 students.

The districts had been operating each center at no cost to each district. The combination of the local one-mill levy and federal funding had been sufficient. But no longer.

In Taylor, school officials' bill for special education shortfalls in 1986-87 was $400,000.

Area residents are named to regional schools posts

A Wayne-Westland school board member is one of the new officers named by the Wayne County Intermediate School District (WCISD) Board of Education.

During an annual organizational meeting on July 13, the following officers were appointed by the board for the 1988-89 school year:

- President - Charles D. Akey, Canton resident and former member of the Livonia Board of Education.
- Vice President - Mary E. Blackmon, Detroit resident and at-large vice president of the Detroit Board of Education.
- Secretary - Armen Barsamian, Garden City resident and former member of the Garden City Board of Education.

den City Board of Education.

- Treasurer - Kathleen M. Chorbajian, Wayne resident and member of the Wayne-Westland Board of Education.

Trustee Boyd W. Arthurs, Trenton resident and member of the Trenton Board of Education, served as president of the board last year.

Akey, in his fourth year on the WCISD board, has served as treasurer, secretary and vice president. He was on the Livonia school board for 12 years.

"The ISD is in a good position to assist its 34 member districts," said Akey. "We're strong on help with curriculum and we're looking at helping member districts with their business operations, to reduce costs. It's a high potential area."

"The basic concept of ISD is that it's more economical and more efficient to use cooperative resources."

Akey cited special education, school improvement programs, staff development and training programs for administrators as cooperative efforts which are currently underway in WCISD.

Among his concerns is school finance reform, which Akey calls "a perennial problem," with conflicting interest groups.

"The legislature can't arrive at an agreement," he said. "The business community sees property tax reduction as the prime goal. I'm not sure how the legislature is going to get enough votes. It's very difficult to get equity for the school districts. Reforms can only work if someone can find more money. So far, it's just a redistribution of what they've already got."

No adhesives or structural components can be used, and no fire or fireworks will be permitted. Paints can be used as long as they are water soluble.

Masonry, garden and household tools will be permitted on the plots. Sand compaction devices may also be used, as long as they are not mechanical. They must also be removed from the plot before judging takes place.

Building castles in sand

County stages competition at Westland park

Wayne County is hardly the place one thinks of when wanting to build castles in the sand. This all may change, however, after next weekend when the Wayne County Parks System and the American Institute of Architects team up to sponsor "We're Building Castles in the Sand."

The two-day event, July 30 and 31, is a sand-castle-building contest at the Nankin Mills beach volleyball courts.

Vic Chaisson, of the parks department, said this is the first year for the event, and he has heard of a lot of interest.

On Saturday, the competition is open to families, Chaisson said. Families will be invited to build sculptures of sand using their imagination and creativity. The winning family will receive a trophy.

Sunday competition is reserved for professional architects competing as individuals or as firms. Chaisson expects the competition to be fierce.

"I've had several calls from architects confirming the rules for the contest," Chaisson said. "So the architects are obviously taking this very seriously."

Winners of the architect competition will receive a specially designed trophy. Chaisson said the trophy design is classified information.

Chaisson asked that families and architects interested in competing register before the event, because the sand is limited.

Only 36 20-by-15-foot plots are available for competitors, according to Chaisson.

There is no limit, however, to the number of spectators invited to watch the works-of-art develop.

"Spectators are certainly encouraged to attend," Chaisson said. "It should be a lot of fun."

Registration for the events will begin at 11:30 a.m. on the day of the competition. There is a $5 entry fee for each team.

Teams or individuals may begin building no earlier than noon, and sculptures must be completed by 3 p.m.

The winners will be announced at 3:30.

Chaisson said it is crucial for teams to remember that the sand used will be masonry sand - not typical beach sand. Chaisson said this type of sand is more difficult to work with, but water will be made available to make the sand more "packable."

Expansion recommended

Plans for a $3 million expansion of Willow Run Airport received a conditional recommendation from the Southeastern Michigan Council of Governments.

Responding to concerns from Van Buren Township officials, SEMCOG asked that a formal coordinating group, including members of the host communities be included in the planning.

Airport officials are awaiting the final approval from the Federal Aviation Authority on the project before work can begin. No target date has been set for the starting time, according to county officials.

Included in the plan which was originally proposed by the airport division of the Wayne County Department of Public Services are:

- A master plan update and environmental assessment;
- An extended cargo area which will add 27,800 square yards of concrete paving to accommodate larger aircraft;
- The paving and extending of the outside service road to connect the east and west airport areas, and
- Construction of a general aviation taxiway and development of a east hanger site.

Our choices for good government

The story is sad to tell – for those who miss the opportunity. The fact is simple: in many communities, less than one of every 10 registered voters next Tuesday will help decide the direction our nation, our state, our county and our local townships will take for the next two or four years.

Less than one out of every 10 voters will cast a ballot in the Wayne County Primary Election. Less than one out of every 10 voters will wield a democratic power that is much mightier and more precious than any earthly good.

Thus, we speak today to that one out of every 10 of you. You are the ones who will decide our future. We speak to you and offer our own opinions and evaluations of the candidates who are soliciting your vote for a seat in public office.

And we don't take our job lightly.

During the first half of this year, we have reported to you the faces, issues and many facets of "Election '88." We have been there when the candidates entered the ring, saw the issues emerge and queried the candidates about their intentions and goals.

Today, we come before you, the voters, with our arms full of facts and background information about the candidates. We have evaluated each candidate and his or her potential benefits to the residents we serve. What follows is a list of our endorsements and brief explanations of why we endorse them.

Do remember that this list is not a prediction of the winners in the election. It is simply a listing of the candidates we feel will serve you best as public elected officials. We urge you to "adopt" our candidates for your own in your voting, as we feel you, in the end, will reap the benefits of having done so.

And, above all, we urge you to join the "elite" and cast your ballot next Tuesday, Aug. 2. Our future – your future – depends on it.

Canton Township

- For township supervisor, we support incumbent supervisor James Poole. Although we also feel current trustee Bob Padget, who is also vying for the supervisor's job, is also qualified, we feel Poole deserves another four years to carry through many of the projects and ideas he has started. Although sometimes radical in his management style, Poole is clearly devoted to the pure interests of the people in Canton Township and will remain loyal to those people to the end.
- For township clerk, we support current trustee Loren Bennett for the Republican ticket. Democrat candidate Cynthia Burgess is unopposed. Bennett has shown remarkable loyalty and community concern during his tenure as a township trustee, and we feel he would restore the pride and dignity the clerk's office should have and did have under former administrations.
- For treasurer, we support Republican candidate Jerry Brown. Democrat contender Carol Bodenmiller is unopposed. Brown should be allowed to return for another four years of service in the treasurer's office, having performed well during his current term.
- For trustee, we support Republican candidates John E. Preniczky, Elaine J. Kirchgatter, Robert, Robert Greenstein and Robert Shefferly. All four have past experience of service to the community, and all four have something to add to the future of the areas. The two Democratic contenders, Matie L. Ostrum and Edwin N. Rasmussen Jr., are unopposed.
- On the ballot proposal to amend the merit commission ordinance, we will again take our stance that the people must decide whether they want an appointed township superintendent rather than a full-time elected supervisor. Both have merits. Both can work in harmony with all other facets of the township government.

Van Buren Township

- Van Buren Township Republican incumbents deserve a vote of support in the primary, based on their capable handling of several difficult issues during the past two years. R. Lynne Hamilton, who is unopposed in the primary, provided leadership during the French Landing Dam repair project and has been effective in dealing with many township issues.
- Deputy Clerk Joanne Tadrick is well qualified to serve as township clerk.
- Treasurer Helen Foster also has proven her excellence in her post during her term of office and should be returned.
- Candidates James Sayre and Robert O'Keefe would both be excellent additions to the board of trustees.
- On the Democratic slate, voters are fortunate to have three supervisor candidates who bring experience in many facets of local government. Although we support David Jacokes to represent the party on the November ballot, we believe both Shirley Camahan and George Craven are qualified for the post.
- Based on their community service, leadership abilities and experience, we see Donna Hall as a qualified candidate for treasurer and Patricia Birbeck as a qualified Democratic candidate for trustee.

Sumpter Township

- We support incumbent Supervisor Clarence Hoffman and incumbent clerk Joan Oddy for a second term.
- We recommend passage of the millage proposals for fire and police protection.

Inkster 22nd District Court

- The duties of the local district court judge are vast, and the importance of a qualified, experienced and fair official to take the seat behind the bench is paramount. Three candidates in the city of Inkster wish to receive one of the highest honors in the law profession – that of being elected as a judge – and wish to replace retiring 22nd District Court Judge John McCarthy.
- However, only one candidate deserves to don the robe of justice. He is Patrick O'Neil.
- O'Neil, a practicing attorney and current member of the Inkster City Council, has been unselfish, community-minded and devoted to Inkster for more than a decade. We believe he will continue that mark of excellence with a seat behind the courtroom bench.

Romulus Community Schools

- We believe Romulus school district voters should vote "yes" on both a 4.5-mill debt transfer for one year and 2-mill debt transfer for three years thereafter. The issue has been defeated twice before. The future and quality of the school system is depending on the positive support of voters this time around.

Wayne County jail

- We urge all Wayne County voters to vote "yes" on a 1-mill tax increase for 10 years to support construction of a new county jail. The incomprehensible early release of convicted felons makes the need for this new facility obvious.

Water 'culprits' labeled unfairly

In the July 13 issue of The Westland Eagle, Mack Mayfield, of the Westland Public Service Department, is credited with a statement regarding the use of water during our hot spell that deserves a prize for lack of simple knowledge.

Mr. Mayfield says the large apartment complexes put the biggest strain on the system. They are the "real culprits."

I am a resident of one of the "real culprits." There have been times when no water was available to me – not even to quench my thirst. At the same time, a multitude of airheads was permitted to waste great quantities of water on lawns that may turn brown but will come back as good as eve in the spring.

Where does the exalted knowledge of our public service department fit into this picture?

When did pouring water on the ground supersede good health practice?

Public safety needed in city

I would like to know who is supposed to run the city of Inkster. Is it the kids or the adults?

A person cannot even go to Danny's market during the late evening anymore without seeing

letters

a mess of kids nearby pushing each other around. So, you know that it is best not to stop in there this time (maybe next time?), but when that time comes, you see the same things again. Where are the parents of these kids?

If you ride a bike to the store during those late hours, you will see three or four kids walking side-by-side in the center of the street. Are the streets made for walking or the sidewalks made for walking? I bet if one of those kids walking in the street would get hit by a motorized vehicle, the parents would be there in no time flat.

I went to Danny's July 4 on my 10-speed bike. One kid lit a fire cracker when he saw me coming, and another threw a regular drinking glass from behind. The glass shattered all over the street.

I think the Inkster Police Department should get more cars on the road and when the kids pull this stuff, take these kids home and hit their parents with a stiff or good-sized fine. Inkster is getting worse as time goes on.

Former resident nets a new job

Thought you might be interested in knowing that I was sworn in as postmaster of Whit-taker on June 7. I had previously worked in Wayne-Westland for three and one-half years and in Belleville for the past 16 years.

I would appreciate it if you could find room in your paper to let the area residents know and to thank them for their fine support of the Belleville post office.

I enjoyed working with you to get your newspaper delivered on time.

He graduated from Cooley High School and attended both Wayne State University and Eastern Michigan University. He is presently treasurer and is seeking re-election for that office.
Why did you decide to seek this office?
I would have to put it in terms of having convictions to certain beliefs of what I feel makes a good community. It's like making repayment to the community for things you take out of the community — "civic rent."	I'm doing a good job, and one nice guy, but naive person (not qualified), and one egomaniac who lies decided to run for it. I have to protect the community from those who would steal it.	As a 17-year resident, I've become increasingly dissatisfied with the Canton Township government. Over the last eight years, we have witnessed political bickering, infighting, name calling, suing, walking out of meetings, power struggles and deal-making — enough is enough. All of Canton's residents have suffered! We have a terrible image. As a result of the boards antics, important work never got done.	Canton needs new leadership. I am qualified. I am interested, and I care. Canton has had a history of dissension. While I have stayed interested in informed, I have not been ultimately involved in Canton politics. Canton needs someone like me who is knowledgeable and who can come in with a fresh approach. I have no angers or animosities carried over from the previous administration.	I have served Canton as a trustee from 1980 to the present. I believe my talents and experience would improve the operations of the clerks department. My continued hard work would make the clerk's department a source of pride to the community.	I originally ran for township clerk in 1984 to implement "cost" efficiency and current technology to the clerk's office. Records and documentation were unaccounted for, disorganized and sloppy. I have spent my four-year term catching up the past to the present to progress into the current technology, in office procedures and policies, form control, record retention and preservation.	Having served successfully as trustee of Canton Township for six years, I know the deep satisfaction and the great enjoyment derived at being able to look at the complexities involved in operating a township and to know that in my own way I have been able to help resolve those issues which face a modern-day township such as Canton.	For the 10 years that my family and I have lived in Canton, there has been nothing but fighting, quarreling, lawsuits and counter lawsuits among Canton's elected officials. The people of Canton have put up with enough of this nonsense. We are no longer a small, bedroom community, partly rural, and we can not tolerate such stupid behavior if Canton is to grow to its full potential.	I currently hold the office I am seeking re-election to. I have enjoyed holding this office for the last 44 months, and I believe we have had a successful tenure.

He has resided in Canton for 10 years. He attended the University of Texas, where he received his bachelor of business administration degree in industrial management. He presently works at Ford Motor Co. as a supervisor of material supply-management systems. He is seeking the office of trustee.

Why did you decide to seek this office?
I see a need for a change within our community. We need a person or people that see these needs and wants of the community and will really listen to "John Q. Public" of Canton.	I decided to run for township trustee because I feel there is a need for change in Canton leadership. If anyone has attended a board meeting or watched a meeting on cable TV, I am sure you will agree that it's time to elect people who want to take the responsibility of running township government seriously rather than taking verbal shots at each other.	I have a great deal of experience as an elected official in Canton Township and have been a resident for 21 years and, thus, am very familiar with the historical perspectives of Canton Township. Soon, Canton will face development of its entire west side because of the sewer settlement. Experienced, strong and active members of government will be needed.	As a longtime community activist, I feel a very strong sense of serving my community. When a vacancy occurred on the current board, I was appointed to fill the position. There was a need, and I was willing to commit the necessary time and energy. I will continue to do so.	I have some beliefs and convictions. I want to become involved and contribute something to the community. I have time to become involved with the citizens of Canton and listen to their problems. It is a challenge. I'd like to accept the challenge of changing times, work hard and constantly seek ways and means to help people in the community.	I want the Canton Township to: • Control the growth in our community by providing a master plan for the next 10 years; • Ensure that the community receive the same basic services without paying for more; • Take strong steps to control traffic congestion on Ford Road and other major thoroughfares: a comprehensive plan that includes major arteries, residential streets and sidewalks; and • Set aside land for parks and recreation before developers take it over.	I have been a trustee for the past four years, believe I have been doing a very good job and feel I can contribute to the township if re-elected. I believe Canton is a developing township, and I wish to use my experience, education and business background to help guide this development to assure Canton remains a very pleasing community to live and raise children.	Community service is something I enjoy. I cannot think of a better part-time job. It seems to all fit into place, since I have the time, the business experience, the government know-how, the education and the desire.	Canton Township appeared to be headed toward hiring a superintendent to run the day-to-day operations of the township. I have a firm belief in the principal of accountability to the residents from those who govern. I feel that the people will lose that accountability when a superintendent is hired because his loyalties will be to the Board of Trustees who hired him and not to the people. An elected supervisor is fully accountable to the people and if he does not act responsibly, he won't be re-elected.	Friends, neighbors and concerned citizens have encouraged my entry into the public sector. I am no longer inclined to sit back and wait for politics and its process to improve in Canton. It is time for an era of upbeat psychology, pride and "best in class" levels of community development. With my candidacy, I have made a real and lasting commitment to excellence. I hope the Canton Township citizens will commit as well to an improved community image by wisely voting for a better quality of government.

Why did you decide to seek this office?
Because I feel that I am well qualified. I feel that I can contribute a vast accumulation of knowledge, experience, background and leadership qualities in the town in which I spent 50 years actively involved. I'm involved in volunteer projects for better government, schools, community life and resident needs. I'm also involved in building, managing and earning money in a business here that we are proud of. I'm also involved in interpreting for deaf persons — children in schools and adults.		I am seeking office to resume and expand my previous programs to improve the quality of life in Van Buren Township.		I am seeking the office of supervisor because I feel that my experience, desire, ability and willingness to work with people will have a direct benefit on Van Buren Township in the many important situations both now and into the future.		To continue in the many programs we have initiated in the last four years. We are on a roll, and I want to keep it going. In the last four years, we have increased the SEV (state equalized value) from $205,775,830 to $240,999,350, and anticipate to increase the SEV an additional $11 million by the end of the year.		I want to participate on the issues and decisions affecting Van Buren Township. Being a lifelong resident of the township, I know that innovative ideas for growth and farsighted solutions to current problems are needed. I am qualified to improve and develop the community in which I was raised and have raised my family.
								I have the qualifications and experience for the position of clerk, and I offer them to the voters of Van Buren to provide the necessary continuity of records management and to keep the flow of information to the community and the board of trustees smooth and accurate.
								The single most important reason that I wish to be returned to office as treasurer of Van Buren Township is that I love serving the public, and I believe I can do the best job of bringing fair, efficient and responsive representation to the citizens of my community.
								I have a strong, personal commitment to Van Buren Township. The residents and the businesses here truly care about their community. I see Van Buren as a quality community, a superb community. The citizens deserve the accountable, effective management performance I have demonstrated. My graduate and undergraduate education qualifications are important to a responsible local government. I have a genuine dedication to our citizens and our future.
								I was asked to run for this office by residents in township. I am concerned about the Wayne landfill and concerned about keeping the residents safe in the township. I know I can make a better place for our children and families.
								Because I'd like to see Van Buren Township develop evenly, smoothly and in a planned fashion. We need an even balance between business and residential growth.

Morgan has served as township trustee from 1978 to 1980 and 1980 to 1987 and has served as treasurer since 1987. He is seeking re-election to the same post.

Why did you decide to seek this office?
I am seeking the office of trustee of Van Buren because I have a strong desire to serve my community. I want to be a part of this township's future growth and to help create a secure and economically sound community for my children and my children's children to continue to live in.		I have good leadership qualities as demonstrated in Farm Bureau and other organizations. The development of our township has not lived up to mine or many other peoples expectations. The control of the landfill has become a fiasco.		Many years of public service. Political experience has taught me that you must return to your community what you take out of it. We have a beautiful, viable township, and I feel I have served it well in the past.		I decided to seek political office to continue the goals established in the prior election. Although some of the goals have been accomplished, there is still much work to be done. As a concerned citizen, I wanted to have my input into the governmental process. The best way to do this and work as a health practitioner is the part-time trustee position.		I have been very active in local Van Buren for about four and one-half years. I have an ability to positively influence the community on issues that do not directly affect me. My interest is not self-serving. I care about Van Buren Township and the people who live here. Many people outside of local government have suggested that I run.
								When some of the present incumbents decided not to seek re-election, many friends and neighbors urged me to run.
								I am a concerned and caring 10-year resident of Sumpter who feels that the people deserve to have at least two candidates to choose from in the November elections. In the last township elections, there was only one slate on the ballot since there had been five Democratic slates running in the August primaries and no other party candidates.
								I seek to be reelected to the office of clerk because, as a resident of this township, I know that my steadfast endeavors will make a difference in bringing betterment to this community. I serve the office on a full-time basis and make every effort to help the residents resolve their problems and concerns and bring about positive changes.
								I decided to seek office because I presently hold this position. I further feel that, from this position, I will be able to more effectively utilize my experience, problem-solving ability and unique capacity to understand the critical issues that the township will be facing during the next four years.

Presently, she is employed by James and Associates P.C., where she is a trial attorney. She is seeking the office of 22nd District judge.	O'Neil, 43, is married and has two children. Currently, Walker works in the Wayne County Prosecutor's office as assistant prosecuting attorney, dealing with criminal trial and appellate matters.	Romulus Community Schools MILLAGE INCREASE A — A 4.5-mill increase in the 1988 general operating schools millage rate in order to provide additional funds for operating purposes. MILLAGE INCREASE B — A 2-mill increase in the 1989, 1990 and 1991 operating schools millage rate in order to provide additional funds for operating purposes.
Why did you decide to seek this office?									Sumpter Township POLICE PROPOSAL — A 2.5-mill increase for four years to provide additional funding for police. FIRE PROPOSAL — A .5-mill increase for four years for additional funding for fire. ENVIRONMENTAL PROPOSAL — A 1-mill increase for three years to create an Environmental Protection Professional Defense Fund. The fund would pay legal bills incurred by the township in fighting new landfills.
The Court of Appeals has more of a policy role than a trial court. After 30 years experience at the trial level, I would like to be a part of the policy setting process, particularly as it relates to criminal and family matters, which are over 70 percent of the Court of Appeals docket.	My legal and personal life has been dedicated to public service. As a judge on the Court of Appeals, I would still be involved in public service. The level of service would be expanded, as would my responsibilities.	I have long felt a need for change on the Court of Appeals. Many of the decisions of the Court of Appeals are simply outrageous to the circuit courts and the taxpaying citizenry. The circuit courts are being inundated by the time-wasting and useless hearings.	I have sat as a visiting appeals judge in the past year and enjoyed the challenge.	Having served on the Court of Appeals on two separate occasions as a visiting judge by appointment of the Supreme Court, I found that I very much enjoyed this type of work. I also believe that, as a result of my extensive experience as a trial judge, I could make a substantial contribution to this court. It is my view that it is very useful for an appellate judge to have a broad range of experience as a trial judge.	The Court of Appeals offers the opportunity to decide a broad range of legal issues on appeal from all the lower state courts and administrative agencies, many of which are not considered by a circuit court judge. Further, the decisions rendered by the Court of Appeals have statewide effects, whereas the decision of a circuit judge is applicable only to the parties in the case. I decided to seek the office of judge of the Court of Appeals in order to expand my judicial abilities and influence the development of the law in Michigan.	There are numerous problems facing the city of Inkster, among which are crime, stagnation and hopelessness. The proliferation and spiraling effect of drug trafficking and use within our city, especially within the black community, is even more disturbing. Having grown up in the city, I know Inkster not from just the top down, but from the bottom up. I believe in law and order, but I also believe in justice.	Judge John McCartney is retiring, and I believe that I am the best qualified candidate to replace him.	I have been the assistant Wayne County prosecutor for Inkster since 1986. I have made a positive contribution to our community in this capacity and have enjoyed very much doing so. The retirement of our current judge will create a vacancy which must be filled by someone with substantial trial experience, a thorough understanding of the law and the ability to relate to people and resolve their problems fairly and efficiently.
Why do you feel you are qualified to fill the position you seek?
Special expertise in probate and juvenile law which is sorely lacking today in light of increased volume in that area. Thirty years experience in the trenches where I have developed an appreciation of the trial court environment that will enable me to have a more fair and common sense approach to the review process.	I have been a trial judge in the Wayne County Circuit Court for over 15 years. I was a practicing attorney before that time. That experience has provided me with the necessary skills and judgement to become a judge on the Court of Appeals.	I have been a trial lawyer, a district judge for over four years and a circuit court judge for 16 years. I have always rendered decisions based on the justice of the cause and they are timely. My backlog of cases is minimal and all findings are prompt. I do not delay justice.	My background as an assistant prosecuting attorney, Recorder's Court judge and presently a Circuit Court judge gives me a unique and diverse outlook for this position.	I believe my long experience as a trial judge as set forth in a previous answer, uniquely qualifies me for the position of judge of the Court of Appeals. I am honored to have the support of three former justices of the Michigan Supreme Court, six past presidents of the Michigan Bar Association, several past presidents of both the Detroit and Wolverine Bar associations and the President of the Detroit Chamber of Commerce.	I believe I am qualified for the Court of Appeals because of my legal expertise and broad experience. I have served 10 years on the circuit court after one year on the Common Pleas bench. Prior to that, I was an Assistant Corporation Counsel for the city of Detroit where I practiced at every level in the state and federal court systems. In my early years as an attorney, I practiced with law firms in Detroit and New York City.	I have ten years of full-time legal and trial experience. I also have quasi-judicial experience having served as a hearing officer for the National Labor Relations Board. I am presently serving as a member of the seven-member Board of Ethics for the state of Michigan, which is a deliberative body. I know and possess the qualities of a good judge having served on judicial selection panels for the federal, state and local judiciary. My opinion, judgement and legal prowess is respected by my peers.	I know the needs of Inkster and I know its people. I am the only candidate who has been living in Inkster continually prior to the beginning of this year. I am experienced in all aspects of the district court. I am fully aware of the financial position of the city of Inkster who funds the district court and will make sure the taxpayers dollars are well spent.	I have eight years experience as a trial attorney, including more than three years as an assistant prosecutor and three years as a criminal defense attorney. I was a trial attorney for the federal government with the United States Equal Employment Opportunity Commission for a year and have served more than three years as assistant dean at Wayne State University Law School. In addition, I maintained a private law practice for nearly three years.

Election guide: How to use primary election charts

Wayne County voters will head to the polls Tuesday, Aug. 2 for the primary election. Polling places will be open from 7 a.m. to 8 p.m.

The primary election in Michigan and Wayne County is used to narrow the field of candidates running for office within each major political party. Thus, a township race in which three Republicans want to be township supervisor and three Democrats have the same intentions, the primary election will narrow the race to one Republican and one Democrat.

The two will continue their campaigns for the General Election, set for Tuesday, Nov. 8.

Also conducted in the primary election are nonpartisan races in which the two candidates receiving the most votes for an office are nominated. Thus, if there are three candidates vying to be judge of a district court, voters in the primary will select their favorite one from the three. The top two vote-getters will continue to the general election.

In the general election, voters will choose one of the two candidates to be the new judge.

An important point for primary election voters to remember is that each voter may vote for candidates from only one political party. Thus, if a voter decides to choose a Republican supervisor candidate in a township race, he may not choose a Democrat candidate in the clerk's, treasurer's or trustees' race. He may choose only Republican candidates from then on.

Nonpartisan races are unaffected by this requirement.

THIS ELECTION GUIDE, prepared by the Associated Newspapers, is to serve as an informational tool when evaluating candidates. All candidates whose name will appear on the primary election ballot were sent a candidate questionnaire to be completed and returned to our newspaper offices. Their addresses were obtained from the Wayne County clerk's office.

All candidates were also asked to either submit a photograph of himself or herself or have one taken by our staff photographer.

Not all candidates return their questionnaires. Some do not return them because they are unopposed in the race. Others have in the past claimed that they did not receive the questionnaire.

Sportsbench lets tourney softball crown slip from its fingers

By TOM MOORADIAN
ANP Staff Writer

Although they finished second best at the Metropolitan State Qualifying Tournament, Sportsbench will make an appearance at the MidWest Regionals scheduled to be played in Jimesville, Wisconsin in August.

Manager Fred Coleman's old nemesis, Compuware, stopped the local softball team from capturing its second major girls softball tournament with a come-from-behind 7-6 victory last week.

The loss, however, sent Sportsbench home with the second place trophy and an enviable 29-3 won-lost record.

"We had them on the ropes," Coleman said, "then they (Compuware) rallied for three runs in the last of the seventh. That did it to us and, you know, we never let anyone get away like that."

There may be a rematch between these two arch-rivals this week when they clash at the nationals.

In that championship classic, Sportsbench appeared to have everything under control as starting pitcher Michelle Ferguson was staked to a 2-0 lead after two innings. Coleman increased that margin by one in the top of the third, however, Compuware came right back at their rivals with a two-run third.

After both teams exchanged single runs in the fourth and Compuware tilting the scoreboard for another in the fifth, Sportsbench

Our defense just fell apart in that championship game. They got a bunch of unearned runs against us and that led to our demise.

Sportsbench Manager

appeared to have put it away with a two-run outburst in their sixth.

That appearance was as deceiving as could be as Compuware routed Ferguson from the mound and then handed reliever Lynda Weichel the loss with those decisive three runs in the last inning.

Compuware's Kristi Gavette managed to withstand Sportsbench's bats. She fanned four and walked two en route to the victory.

Sportsbench got an outstanding performance from Kim Hoppes and Andrea Young at the plate. Hoppes chipped in a pair of singles and also knocked in two runs, while Young's contribution included two RBIs and a single.

Sportsbench had to come back from the loser's bracket to reach the finals after being shutout 3-0 by Compuware in the opening game. All three Compuware runs were unearned. Gavette digested the loss.

Michele Searrow got the local softballers on the winning track as she drilled two for two, scored three times and also chased home three runs in Sportsbench's 9-1 triumph over Shakermakers. The victory went to Jennifer Daniel.

It was also "no contest" in the third round as Sara Mason and Stacey Bogataj combined for five hits in a 12-0 shutout over Lake Orion.

Mason had a perfect three-for-three (all singles), while Bogataj, daughter of former Cherry Hill High basketball coach and Lowery High cage star Dave Bogataj, homered for one of her two runs and also chalked up three RBIs.

Against Compuware's second team, Sportsbench battered their rivals 15-0 as Weichel got the shutout. Brenda Gateman came through with four hits (in four trips) and knocked in four RBIs while scoring four times. The game was cut short due to the "mercy" rule.

Sportsbench carded its third shutout of the series, a 11-0 whitewash of Taylor Mussills as Bogataj again starred at the plate with a couple of extra-base hits in three appearances. She also had two RBIs.

In the semifinals, Sportsbench disposed of Alward's 8-1 as Ferguson was the winner. Hoppes went two for four, with a triple and single and four RBIs to pace the hitting assault.

Friday is last day to sign up

By TOM MOORADIAN
ANP Staff Writer

Friday is the final day to register for the 29th annual City Championship Golf Tournament.

Registration for the Aug. 6-7 classic will be accepted by mail or at the Associated Newspapers' Wayne offices until 5 p.m. on Friday, July 29.

"As expected we have been receiving excellent response from the players," said William Hawley, tournament manager. "And, in order to set up the foursomes and the tee times, we need to close out registration."

The two-day tournament will be conducted at Fellows Creek Golf Course, 2936 Lotz Road in Canton Township. It is opened to all male golfers in the cities of Wayne, Westland, Inkster, Romulus, Garden City and Canton Township.

We have received excellent response from the golfers in the participating communities...In order to set up foursomes and tee times, we have to cut off registration on Friday.

— Bill Hawley
Tourney manager

The tournament is sponsored by The Associated Newspapers and the parks and recreation departments of the participating communities.

The format of the tournament is set up so that golfers will play 18 holes the first day (Saturday, Aug. 6), then return the following day (Sunday, Aug. 7) for the championship round. Tee off times and rules will be published in next week's editions of the Associated Newspapers.

There is a $37 registration fee which covers the greens fee costs and trophies. Please make checks payable to Bill Hawley, tournament manager. (Do not send or submit cash).

There will be separate city championships conducted simultaneously for all of the participating cities. Additional flight competitions will be staged only if the total number of entries from a particular city warrants it.

Wayne golfers will also be playing for the Anderson Memorial Trophy, (above) awarded to the golfer who finishes with medalist honors. The Wayne championship has been dominated by Tom Piscopink who has won the title six times in recent years.

Trophies will be awarded to the top three finishers in each of the flights. An additional trophy will be presented to the low scorer (medalist) of the entire tournament.

In case of a tie for one of the trophy positions, a "sudden death" playoff will be conducted to determine the winner.

Wayne golfers will also be playing for the Lenny Anderson Memorial Trophy. The trophy, awarded to the medalist of the Wayne championship flight, is placed on display at the Wayne Police Department. (Anderson was the first

3 teams boast perfect Romulus softball record

By TOM MOORADIAN
ANP Staff Writer

Three teams - Taylor A.C., Chrysler Softball Club, and Ed's Hangar Lounge - boast undefeated records in their respective leagues as the league season approaches the playoff-phase of the campaign.

Taylor A.C., with a two-game cushion, is riding the crest of a seven-game winning streak and is heading toward the Men's Sunday Division championship.

In the meantime, Chrysler has also opened up a two-game edge and is a perfect 9-0 in the Men's Friday Blue Division and Ed's Hangar has duplicated Chrysler's feat in the Men's Friday Red Division. However, Belleville Lodge continues to breathe down Ed's neck.

However, the title picture becomes blurred over in the Men's Monday/Wednesday Division as Document Services apparently can't shake Davis Autobody from the top perch. Both are sporting 16-3 records. The two frontrunners have no fear from Poly Pro, seated in third place with a 13-5 mark.

Over in the women's league, Toni's Nite Club continues to live it up thanks to a 13-3 record. They are two games up on Brendco Oil which had been setting the pace earlier in the season. Brendco is presently sporting a 11-4 record.

There were some notable surprises in the league last week as seventh-place A.L. Williams, winner of only six of their previous 19 starts, startled third-place Poly Pro Auto Wash, 8-7. A.L. Williams jumped out to a 3-0 lead before it relinquished the margin in the top of the third when Poly Pro rallied for four runs.

But the winners came right back in that inning and scored three more times to take a 6-4 edge. They added to that margin by two in the bottom of the fifth.

However, Poly Pro wasn't through, yet. It gave the winner a scare, erupting for three runs in the sixth, falling short by one to tie the game.

Williams' got an outstanding effort from James Miller who batted in five runs thanks to a homer and two singles. Teammates Ron Geoff, Tony Tucker and William Sucharski checked in with two hits apiece, while Bob Sloan doubled for one of his three hits of the afternoon.

Over on the loser's ledger, Dean Smith tripled and singled while Dave Martin, Gil Cox, and Cal Brooks each had two hits.

Chrysler jumped to a 7-1 lead in the first inning against Double Eagle and never looked back until it sealed a 19-7 victory. Todd Wallace sparked the winners with a pair of homers and a single. Teammates Bill Gill, Dave Schulte and Joe Thomas also homered.

For Double Eagle, Ike Lewis came through with a homer and a pair of singles while Kevin Schewe also homered for one of his two hits. Fred Leitch and Pete Reno each had two hits.

Gorilla Engines places Anderson title on block

By TOM MOORADIAN
ANP Staff Writer

Defending champ Gorilla Engines will place the Anderson Memorial Softball Invitational on the block Friday when the 12th annual tournament gets underway in Wayne.

The champs are seeking an unprecedented third consecutive championship, and they may be hard-pressed to repeat, according to tournament manager Larry Quartuccio.

"They (Gorilla Engines) have an excellent club again this year," Quartuccio said, "but this year's lineup includes a score of outstanding teams."

"It would be difficult at this stage of the game to really pick a tournament favorite. You can't count out the champs, of course, but also keep your eyes on Manitowoc Ice out of Redford (Township) and National Trails, from Southfield."

Other clubs who will be making appearances in Wayne include: Morris Inc., which is also the host team (Westland); Schewe's Collision (Flat Rock), Sottiles Auto Parts (Newport), Canton Sports (Canton), Western Waterproofing (Oak Park); The Roxy (Belleville); Wimsall/Al's Market (Wayne); Deckmasters

(Westland); Law Auto Sales (Redford); New World (Dearborn Heights); Malarkey's Pub (Westland); Station Lounge (Wayne).

The three-day tournament, named in the memory of Patrolman Leonard Anderson, the first police officer to be slain in the line of duty in Wayne, will conclude 6 p.m. on Sunday (July 31).

The games will be conducted on the Wayne Recreation Complex diamonds, located adjacent to the recreation center on Howe Road.

Quartuccio said that softball fans who want to get a glimpse at the team lineups and programs may pick up programs at the Recreation Center this week.

Tiger to appear at Lakewood

Mike Henneman will be making his pitch for the Lakewood Shopping Center when the 6-4, 195-pound right-hander Detroit Tigers hurler makes a personal appearance on Saturday, July 30 at the area shopping center.

Henneman this season has chalked up a 4-2 won-lost record and 14 saves for the Tigers. The Tigers on Monday were tied with the New York

Yankees (with Boston closing fast) in the American League East pennant race. Henneman, a native of St. Charles, Missouri, is making his pitch during the shopping center's sidewalk sales, appropriately called "Tiger Days."

The shopping center is located off of the I-94 Expressway at Rawsonville Road (Exit 187).

Weight training, anyone?

Summer is an excellent time to get the old body into shape.

And the Inkster Parks and Recreation Department has just the program designed to accomplish that goal. Officials said that the popular weight training class and karate are still being offered during the remainder of the summer.

Qualified instructors will teach proper weightlifting techniques, how to warm up using the apparatus and concentration, with the use of specific exercises toward development of specific muscle groups.

Recreation officials stress that the weight room has been expanded and additional equipment has been purchased. Participants should be 18 or over; men and women; and they may sign up at the Recreation Complex, located at 2025 Middlebelt, north of Michigan Avenue.

There is a $2 per session registration fee for nonmembers.

In the meantime, officials say that the popular karate classes offered by instructor Samuel Williams, Jr. a black belt, are still in session. Classes are conducted from 6 to 8 p.m. Monday and Wednesday at the Recreation Complex.

Classes are for an 8-week duration. There is a $40 fee for 12 and under participants; $50, for 13 to adults.

For further information about these or any other parks and recreation department offered program, telephone 728-7530.

Last call for tennis tourney

If you're going to play in the 10th annual Inkster Open Tennis Tournament, better hurry down to the recreation department and get your entry blank to the officials.

The tournament is scheduled to be played Aug. 19, 20, and 21 on tennis courts located immediately behind the Recreation Complex, 2025 Middlebelt, just north of Michigan Ave.

There are nine categories opened to competitors in this year's invitational: 35 & Over singles and doubles; adult men's singles; adult women's singles; adult mixed doubles; adult men's/women's doubles; youth (14 & under) singles; youth (17 & under) singles; and youth doubles.

There is a small entry fee. Trophies will be awarded to the first and second place finishers in each of the divisions.

Those needing further information, contact the Parks and Recreation Department at 728-7530.

L·A·W

LAST IN A THREE PART SERIES

Attorney's role is teacher, counselor

Clients should feel "comfortable and confident" in their selection of an attorney to represent them in a divorce case, according to Belleville attorney Barbara Rogalle Miller.

Because she believes that knowledge of what to expect during the divorce process will tend to put her clients at ease, Miller puts an emphasis on "teaching and counseling" before the legal steps are begun.

During her first interview with a prospective client, Miller presents the individual with a packet of information which includes copies of legal documents, an attorney-client agreement form, fee information plus guidelines on procedures and visitation. Along the other documents is a map of the downtown Detroit area showing where the Friend of the Court is located as well as other locations that the client may have to visit during the process. Following the interview, the client can refer to the documents if he or she is unclear about any of the information.

Miller noted that many clients come to her in a highly emotional state - many of whom have misconceptions about the court system and unrealistic expectations of what will occur. Some erroneously believe that the court will punish their spouses for their wrongdoings when the divorce settlement is made, but "no fault" took the courts "out of the morality business." No fault replaced the system whereby the fault of one party had to be established in the courts, Miller said. Previously, detectives were hired to find spouses in compromising situations and in some people "being yoked together who didn't want to stay married."

"Misunderstandings and unrealistic expectations exist about alimony," Miller said. "When it is granted by the courts today, it is usually rehabilitative alimony for one to four years to enable the spouse to get on her feet."

Miller said the woman who requests alimony should be prepared to present a plan to the court outlining how she intends to prepare herself for the job market during that period. Her chances would be enhanced, according to the attorney, if she is already enrolled in an educational program.

Barbara Miller

Divorce, custody issues reflect changes in lifestyles today

When Barbara Rogalle Miller began practicing law eight years ago, sole custody of children was almost always awarded to the mother. Today, while the percentage of children awarded to the custody of their mothers remains high, more fathers are asking for and are being granted custody of their children.

Miller, a Belleville attorney, estimated that in 85 to 90 percent of the cases, mothers are granted custody. However, when fathers seriously pursue the issue of custody, statistics show that about one-half of them are successful, Miller has been told.

During the past several years, Miller has noticed a trend toward joint legal custody with the awarding of physical custody to one parent. Under the terms of joint legal custody, both parents have input into medical treatment, school problems, choice of babysitters and other issues which affect the children. In addition, she said, the courts seem to favor liberal visitation rights - often leaving particulars of the days and times up to the parents.

When sole custody is granted, only the custodial parent has the right to make decisions affecting the children's needs, she said. For example, the non-custodial parent would not have the right to check into the school or medical records of the children.

Shared custody is another option in which the children divide their time between the two parents - a week with mother, a week with father or a month with one parent, a month with the other, according to Miller.

The courts consider the "best interests of the child" when custody is awarded considering such factors as the love and emotional ties which exist between the parties involved and the child and also the capacity and disposition of the parties involved to provide the child with love, affection and guidance and continuation of the educating and raising of the child in its religion or creed, if any. Also considered are the moral fitness, mental and physical health of the parties involved and the home, school and community record of the child.

The "reasonable preference of the child" also is a factor, if the court deems the child to be of sufficient age to express preference.

In her experience, Miller noted that children "as young as 4 have been interviewed" as to their preference for custody. The Belleville attorney is unsure how much impact the interview of such a young child would have in the courts, however, the opinion of a 16-year-old would have an impact on the decision.

Because the courts encourage a continuing relationship with both parents - except in the instances where one parent is clearly inappropriate - visitation rights are enforced,

Miller said. She recalled that a Washtenaw County woman was recently jailed because of her interference with the visitation rights of her ex-spouse.

Miller provides a list of guidelines for visitation - for both custodial and non-custodial parents - to all of her clients.

She advises the non-custodial parent to be on time for visits and to "do quiet or casual things with your child," rather than to take the child on a constant round of movies, ball games and other entertainment. She also advises the non-custodial parent to spend time alone with the child on the visits.

In her guidelines, Miller advises the custodial parent to provide proper clothing for the child when he or she visits, let the child enjoy and have fun with the other parent and "if you are not receiving child support, you must still let your child spend time with the other parent."

Miller also tells her clients that visitation does not have to be allowed if the visiting parent has been drinking or using drugs. However, she said, if the custodial parent does not allow visitation, he or she should keep track of the times and write a letter to the Friend of the Court explaining the incidents.

"I don't want to sound like Pollyanna, but I have learned that if you make every effort to be fair, you will be treated fairly by the courts," Miller said. "You must be truthful, forthcoming and not manipulative."

Miller noted that those seeking a divorce should be prepared to pay a retainer of between $300 and $1,500 to their attorneys. In addition, she said, clients can hold down some of the costs if they can provide information themselves rather than to go through a discovery process to obtain necessary information.

For example, the individual who plans to file for divorce, should (if possible) provide copies of prior income tax returns and current paycheck stubs, a list of all personal possessions acquired during the marriage, legal descriptions of any property, financial documents and the spouse's social security number and driver's license number, according to the attorney.

"I also advise clients to take photographs of their home furnishings and other items which could 'disappear' during the divorce process," Miller said.

"Of all of the skills that attorneys must have, I think their most important ones are negotiating and drafting skills," Miller said. "The judgment of divorce, when children are involved, is like a constitution. The parties rely on the judgment even after the attorneys are long gone."

Guideline determines child support

Although there is some flexibility in determining child support payments, statewide guidelines set the pattern for most support recommendations in divorce judgments.

The formula set up in the guideline is "based on the needs of the child and the actual resources of each parent."

The guideline, adopted in 1986, is based on parental income, family size and ages of children and is considered appropriate for establishing recommendations in the majority of domestic cases. In special cases where the guideline cannot be relied on exclusively, it provides the Friend of the Court with a point of reference.

Since its adoption, the guidelines have provided greater uniformity for those who require child support orders and greater uniformity of those who make recommendations. After the net income of the parents is determined, the payments can be determined by checking the already computed amounts in a series of tables.

First, the gross income must be determined, including salaries, commissions, social security, unemployment compensation or any other source of income. Overtime pay and income from a second job also are considered in the gross income. Allowable deductions are then taken from the gross amount which include federal, state and local taxes and mandatory withholdings.

To calculate child support for a family with one child, for example:

- Total Net Weekly Income, $220; percentage allocated for child, 25 percent; base support $55 plus $17 over $220;
- Total Net Weekly Income, $300, percentage allocated for child, 23 percent; base support $69 plus 16 percent over $300;
- Total Net Weekly Income, $385; percentage allocated for one child, 21.6 percent; base support $83 plus 15 percent over $385.

For a family with five children, the following guidelines would apply:

- Total Net Weekly Income, $220; percentage allocated for children, 59.5 percent; base support $131 plus 43 percent over $220;
- Total Net Weekly Income, $300; percentage allocated for children, 55 percent; base support $165 plus 38 percent over $300;
- Total Net Weekly Income, $385; percentage allocated for children 51.2 percent; base support $197 plus 37 percent over $385.

After the child support obligation is established the next step is to apportion the support between both parents based on the ratio of their incomes. For example, if the non-custodial parent earns $400 per week and the custodial parent earns $150 per week, the total weekly support amount for five children - determined by the guidelines - would be $258. Since the non-custodial parent earns 72.7 percent of the total family income, he or she would pay 72.7 percent of the weekly support payment or $187.50.

In cases where there is little or no income - when the non-custodial parent earns $100 a week or less - the non-custodial parent would pay 10 percent of his or her income. This would decrease by one percent for every additional $100 that the custodial parent earns.

When the income level is high and exceeds the income categories, the support for one child at a combined income of $1,200 per week, for example, would provide a support recommendation for $175 plus 10 percent of the amount over $1,100. Total support, therefore, would be $185, or $175 plus 10 percent of the $100 over the time guideline. The support would then be apportioned to both parents.

Lemon pie is hot for summertime

just desserts

sue willert

It's still hot. A real news flash, eh? Never mind, even though it's too hot to do just about anything, there are some foods that simply lend themselves to this type of weather.

Who could get through summer without strawberry shortcake or pie, fruit cobblers and desserts or even just a wonderful ripe watermelon for dessert? One particular favorite this time of year has to be the glorious lemon pie or tart, another of my all-time favorites.

Many a California farmer got rich during the gold rush of 1849 by selling locally grown lemons to the scurvy-prone miners, but despite the medicinal value, a cool, creamy lemon pie can be pure delight on a hot summer day.

This is a recipe for a lemon tart—which is actually a pie but called a tart because of the pan. You get the idea. This is wonderful served with heaps of whipped cream which has been sweetened and flavored with vanilla.

Lemon tart

PASTRY
1 cup all-purpose flour
1/4 cup confectioners' sugar
1/4 teaspoon salt
1/2 cup chilled butter
1 tablespoon ice water
FILLING
5 eggs
2/3 cup strained fresh lemon juice (about 3 large lemons)
4 teaspoons grated lemon peel
2 tablespoons cornstarch
1/4 teaspoon salt
1/2 cup butter, melted

Preheat oven to 400 degrees.

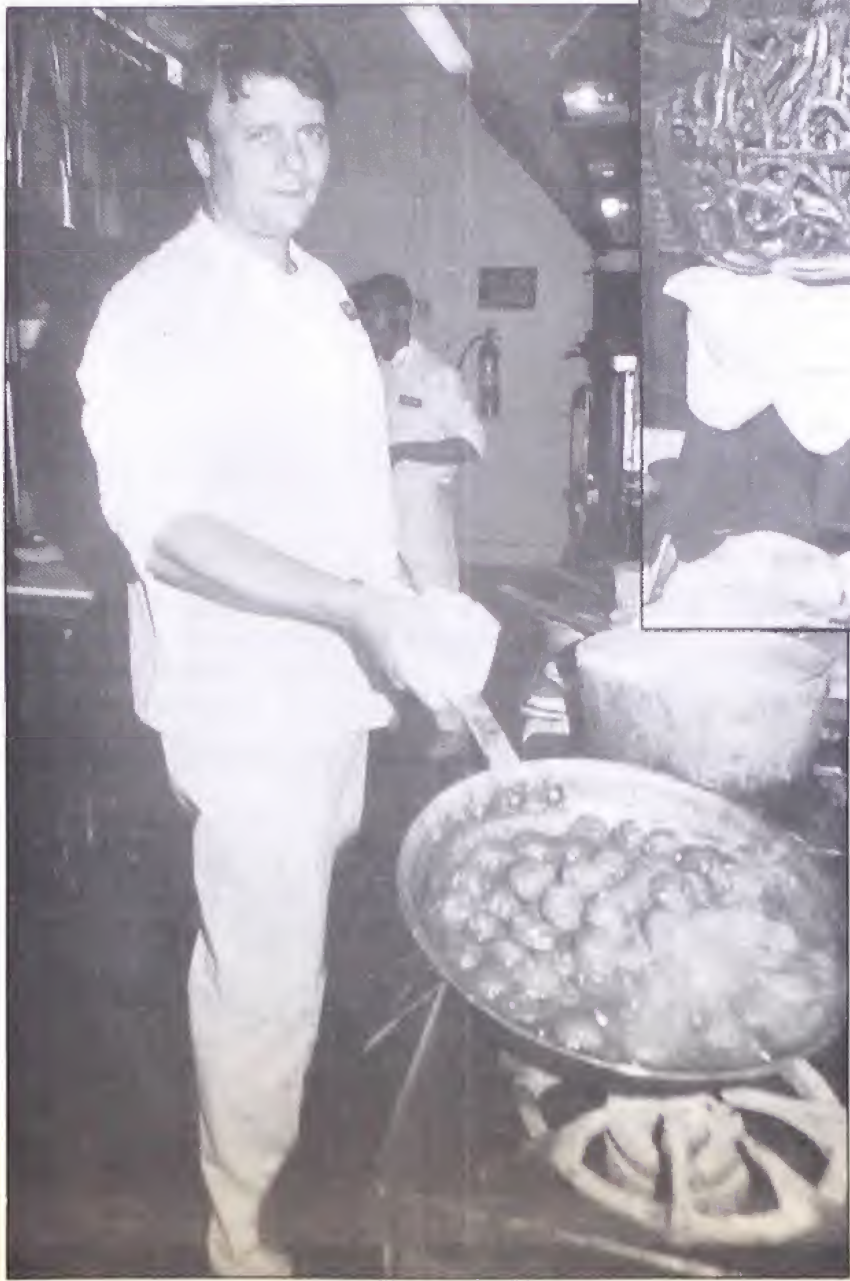

To prepare pastry combine flour, confectioners' sugar and salt in a small bowl. Cut in butter until crumbly. Sprinkle ice water over mixture and combine until well blended. Mixture will be quite dry. (If making dough in a food processor, water may be eliminated.) With fingers, press mixture into bottom and up sides of a 9- or 10-inch fluted tart pan with removable bottom. Bake 8 to 10 minutes. Remove from oven. With fingers, press hot crust lightly to ensure an even thickness where bottom and sides of the pan meet. Return tart shell to oven and bake an additional 5 to 10 minutes, or until crust is lightly browned. Set aside to cool.

To prepare filling, combine eggs, sugar, lemon juice, lemon peel, cornstarch and salt in a food processor. Puree until smooth. With machine on, slowly pour in melted butter until just blended. Pour the mixture into a small acid-resistant saucepan. Cook over medium heat, stirring constantly with a wooden spoon, until filling just begins to boil and is quite thick. Place bottom of saucepan in a bowl of ice water and stir until mixture cools to room temperature.

Fill the cooled shell. Chill until ready to serve, then remove fluted metal ring, and slice tart into wedges.

Top with heaps of whipping cream and enjoy.

Appetizers!

Avocado pear cream

- 2 ripe avocados
- 1 tablespoon white wine vinegar
- 4 anchovies, finely chopped
- 2 teaspoons finely chopped onions
- Pinch cayenne pepper
- 1 teaspoon sugar
- 1/2 cup whipping cream
- Paprika to garnish
- Ripe olives

Cut avocados in half and remove the seeds. Scrape out the flesh, being careful not to break the skin. Put the flesh in a bowl and mash well. Add vinegar, olives, anchovies and onions. Season by stirring in cayenne pepper and sugar. Chill. Fold in whipping cream before serving, fill shells and garnish with paprika.

Fettucini alfredo

- 1 pound fettucini noodles
- 1/4 pound butter
- 4 tablespoons heavy cream
- 1/2 cup fresh grated parmesan cheese
- Salt
- Pepper
- 1 teaspoon white chablis wine
- 1 egg yolk

Boil noodles in salt water. Beat egg yolk until fluffy. Saute fettucini and add yolk and cream into saute pan. Add wine. Serve on a plate with fresh parmesan.

Cooked shrimp

- 1 pound shrimp (16-21 to a pound)
- Bay leaf
- Pickling spice
- White wine
- Lemon
- Parsley
- Cocktail sauce

Shell shrimp and take out vein. Don't boil—but simmer shrimp with bay leaf, pickling spice, white wine and lemon. Drain and cool with ice water (cool very fast). Garnish with lemons and parsley, serve with cocktail sauce.

Beef casserole with beer

- 4 cups basic beer stock (or can of beef bullion)
- 5 pounds lean stewing meat
- 1 1/2 cups seasoned flour
- 2 tablespoons butter
- 2 tablespoons peanut oil
- 1 1/2 cups minced onions
- 6 onions or shallots, peeled
- 4 cups strong beer or ale

Appetizers are becoming more popular, "especially during the summer," and seafood is gaining strength, said chef Richard Uhl, of the Ramada Inn, in Romulus.

Meat sales are on the decline, and seafood, fish and fruit are definitely more popular, he said. A 60-40 split in favor of fish exists today, Uhl said.

Most of the appetizers are served during the happy hour in the lounge, but people staying at the hotel are also ordering appetizers, especially light salads, Uhl said.

People often like to try different sorts of appetizers in the summer, he said, and they especially like different kinds of fruit.

"I like to get creative and put out different creations to see how customers react," he said, adding that some of his more adventuresome ideas have been sausage pie and a Mexican spread.

The Mexican theme included refried beans and all sorts of ingredients so customers can make their own tacos, Uhl said.

For anyone trying to make appetizers, it's really up to the household depending on the equipment and experience they have. But Uhl recommends that someone new at making them "stay with the simple stuff," of course. The time and skill in preparing them really depends on how far you want to go, Uhl said.

He does suggest, however, to stay away from anything fried, to use fresh ingredients and to "watch calories" in preparation.

An average appetizer display has fish, beef, fowl and cheeses, he said.

Shrimp is the most popular of appetizers, Uhl said. When he puts out the best display, on Friday nights, he goes through 50 pounds of cold shrimp.

"People go crazy over it and don't realize how much they eat," Uhl said.

Therefore, anyone planning to serve shrimp as an appetizer at a party should "plan on eight pieces per person," he said, which is about average.

Another popular appetizer is a steamship round meat put on silver dollar bread. Pasta salads are pretty good, too, he said.

Uhl has been cooking for more than 15 years. He started, he said, when he was 14 and needed a summer job and was hired as a "cook's helper at an all girl's college."

"I'm here to please the customer," Uhl said. "Their demand is my need. I really enjoy preparing 'anything the customer likes.'"

For those willing to follow in the chef's steps, try the following recipes, with the first four specially offered by Uhl.

Saute beef with flour and butter in a pan, cooking until brown. Add minced onions or shallots. Add stock and beer to saute and let simmer. Then thicken with rue or cornstarch. Decorate with parsley and julienne carrots.

Waikiki meatballs

- 1 1/2 pounds ground beef
- 2/3 cup cracker crumbs
- 1/4 cup minced onion
- 1 egg
- 1 1/2 teaspoons salt
- 1/4 teaspoon ginger
- 1/4 cup milk
- 1 tablespoon shortening
- 2 tablespoons cornstarch
- 1/2 cup brown sugar (packed)
- 1 can (13 1/2 ounces) pineapple tidbits, drained (reserve syrup)
- 1/3 cup vinegar
- 1 tablespoon soy sauce
- 1/3 cup chopped green pepper

Mix meat, crumbs, egg, salt, milk, onion, and ginger. Take rounded tablespoonfuls and shape into balls. Melt shortening into a large skillet and cook and brown meatballs. Take out the meatballs, but keep warm. Pour fat from skillet.

Mix barbecue sauce, orange juice and red pepper. Brush half of sauce on wings. Place on large broiler pan and heat on 375 degrees for 40 minutes. Periodically brush with remainder of sauce. Serve with leftover sauce, also with blue cheese and celery.

Cream cheese mushrooms

- 1 stick margarine
- 8 ounces of cream cheese
- 2 egg yolks
- 4 ounce can of mushrooms
- 1 package English muffins

Let margarine and cream cheese soften at room temperature. Mix egg yolks, cream cheese and margarine together. Spread on English muffins (quartered) and spread mushroom pieces on top. Broil until bubbly.

Orange chicken wings

- 18 chicken wings, separated at joints
- 18 ounces barbecue sauce
- 1/2 cup orange juice
- 1 tablespoon crushed red pepper

Mix barbecue sauce, orange juice and red pepper. Brush half of sauce on wings. Place on large broiler pan and heat on 375 degrees for 40 minutes. Periodically brush with remainder of sauce. Serve with leftover sauce, also with blue cheese and celery.

Risky business: Home purchase is an important decision

By BARBARA ALBERT
ANP Staff Writer

A home is the biggest purchase one probably ever makes and it can be a frightening experience.

One Michigan bank is trying to take the fear out of buying a house by offering step-by-step, informational handbooks on residential mortgages.

Manufacturer's Bank recently published several brochures for prospective home buyers and for those who are in the very early stages of saving for a home.

"It's one thing to choose the right product and it's another thing to go through the process of buying it," said Gerald Berry, vice president in charge of mortgages for Manufacturer's Bank.

Berry said the brochures were designed to ease the application process for would-be home buyers.

The basic handbook provides tables, charts and formulas for determining how much a person can afford to spend on a house.

"We don't want them to borrow more money than they can afford," Berry said. "But usually people underestimate the amount they can afford to spend."

Berry said as a basic guideline, your total housing expenses should not exceed 28 percent of your gross monthly income.

The average down payment on a house, Berry said, is around 20 percent.

The handbook also outlines the various costs associated with buying a home.

With people becoming more and more mobile, buying a home becomes a risk few are willing to take.

Berry said buying a home is worth the risk, even if you might only live in the house a couple years.

"No matter how you look at it," Berry said. "It will probably still be better than paying out rent because you are building equity."

Berry said would-be home buyers should not limit themselves to a traditional 30-year home loan. There are several other types of loans available and these are also outlined in the handbook.

For couples on the move, Berry suggests various adjustable rate mortgages.

"In general the starting (interest) rate is better," Berry said. "So if you're pretty confident you're going to move on, you would pass the higher rate onto the new buyer."

The balloon mortgages are similar and offer the same advantage to people who don't plan to live in a house for too long.

A growing equity mortgage is well-suited to young couples who can look forward to pay increases over the years. With this type of mortgage equity is earned more quickly.

Berry said he hopes people take advantage of the literature provided by his bank.

"A home is the biggest purchase you'll ever make so it's important that you are well informed when you make your decision," Berry said.

Westland mental health facility is complete

By BARBARA ALBERT
ANP Staff Writer

It was standing room only at the grand opening ceremonies of the Margaret W. Montgomery Hospital in Westland July 13.

The 60-bed mental health facility located at 28303 Joy Road has been receiving patients for several weeks according to Janet Talcott, a spokeswoman for Michigan Health Care Corporation, owners of the new facility.

"The facility is beautiful, totally modern," Talcott said. Opening the hospital involved a $5.6 million total renovation of the Metro West Hospital. The renovations took two years to complete, Talcott said.

"The work that has been done, I think, shows a real commitment to the city of Westland," Talcott said.

The hospital will employ 170 people. Renovation began two years ago when the Michigan Health Care Corporation purchased Metro West property. Metro West was a medical and surgical center.

Now that renovations are complete, the private facility can accommodate 60 patients on an inpatient basis. The hospital, however, will provide other types of mental health services.

Inpatient, partial hospitalization and outpatient treatments, are the three primary programs provided by the hospital.

"All of the programs take a positive approach to mental health," Talcott said.

Inpatient care is for those persons with acute mental illness. Partial hospitalization is for those patients who need a structured program of therapy, but do not require the full range of services offered by the facility. Outpatient treatment is a support system for those patients who can function in normal day-to-day life.
